

MISE PROJECT SHOWCASE

Saturday April 25th, 2015

Venue: Auditorium, Waterford Institute of Technology (WIT), Main Campus, Cork Road

09.00 Registration, Tea & Coffee

10.00 Welcome Address: Dr Catherine O'Reilly, MISE Project Leader, WIT

10.15 Keynote Talk: Prof Ian Montgomery, Queen's University Belfast
Origins. How did Ireland get its mammals?

11.00 Dr Ferdia Marnell, The National Parks and Wildlife Service
From MISE to Mammal Atlas – how local engagement leads to national knowledge

11.15 Tea & Coffee

11.45 Dr Peter Turner, MISE Project Leader, WIT
Pine marten in Co. Waterford

12.10 Dr David O'Neill, MISE Project Manager, WIT
The MISE approach to otter monitoring in Ireland and Wales

12.35 Andrew Harrington, MISE Project Officer, Waterford City and County Council (WCCC)
Bats in the belfry: A citizen science approach to bat monitoring

13.00 Lunch

14.00 Dr Henry Schofield, The Vincent Wildlife Trust
An overview of activities by the MISE Project in Wales

14.25 Michael Desmond
The MISE volunteer experience

14.35 Optional Workshops

Dr Denise O’Meara, MISE Project Officer, WIT

An introduction to the MISE education pack for schools

Andrew Harrington, WCCC

An overview of mammal survey techniques

15.30 Close

Ireland's EU Structural Funds Programmes 2007 - 2013
Co-funded by the Irish Government and the European Union

